Course Description:

Those with disabilities make up the largest minority in the United States but can at times be one of the least acknowledged minorities among schools and businesses alike. In this presentation, you will hear from a man who grew up with a learning disability who has made it his life's mission to move the needle from disability awareness to disability acceptance. Topics that will be covered include self-advocacy, reasonable accommodation considerations, discussing disability in conversation best practices and more. Case studies will be shared via videos of current self-advocates who have disabilities.

Learning Objectives:

- Participants will define disability acceptance
- Participants will name two accommodation considerations for schools, colleges and universities
- Participants will be able to identify language in both conversation and on paper that is inclusive and respectful

Course Outline:

Introduction of presenters and personal story: 10 minutes

Importance of self-advocacy: 10 minutes

Accommodation considerations: 10 minutes

Disability in conversation best practices: 10 minutes

Case Studies: 10 minutes

Questions and Answers: 10 minutes

Presenter:

Kerry Magro is an award-winning national speaker and best-selling author. Kerry has become a role model in the disabled community. Non-verbal at age 2.5 and diagnosed with Autism at age 4, Kerry has overcome countless obstacles to get to where he is today. In May of 2019, Kerry received his doctorate in Educational Technology Leadership from New Jersey City University to become Dr. Kerry Magro. He currently is the CEO and Founder of KFM Making a Difference, a non-profit corporation focused on disability advocacy and housing.

Today, Kerry travels the country sharing his story and telling our society to define their lives and their dreams in the best way they can. Highlights include publishing 2 best-selling books: Defining Autism From the Heart and Autism and Falling in Love, and working on the 2012 motion picture Joyful Noise.
